ABSTRACT

This report is a compilation of data on department enrollments by campus, total enrollment by campus, and enrollment by campus and school in fall terms 1994-1998 for City College of San Francisco. On Castro-Valencia campus, enrollment rate for credit courses in music increased from 18 in fall 1994 to 59 in fall 1998, an increase of 227.8%. On John Adams Campus, enrollment rate for credit courses in consumer arts & sciences rose 623.3%, while enrollment decreased 73.2% for ESL courses over the same period. In comparing the campuses, John Adams campus had the most dramatic increase in credit enrollment (55.8%) from fall 1994-98, while Evans campus had the sharpest drop (-47.5%). Evans had the highest enrollment rate increase for noncredit courses. Some of the most popular noncredit courses on Evans campus were courses in trade skills, apprenticeship and journeyman, and automotive. (JA)
